

Contents

PREFACE

Preface to the 1 st Edition	i
Preface to the 2 nd Edition	iii

CONTENTS	iv
-----------------	-----------

ABOUT THE MANUAL

The Monash University team	x
Contributors to the 2 nd Edition	xiii
Currency of information and comments	xiv
Currency of information and updating	xiv
Comments	xiv

CHAPTER ONE: THE NATURE OF TRIBUNALS

1.1. Jurisdiction and powers	1-1
1.1.1. What is a tribunal?	1-1
1.1.2. Jurisdiction	1-3
1.1.3. Powers	1-3
1.2. Commonwealth and State tribunals in Australia	1-5
1.3. Nature and variety of tribunals – merits review and civil claims	1-7
1.3.1. Administrative tribunals	1-7
1.3.2. Tribunals hearing civil claims	1-10
1.3.3. Other types of tribunals	1-10
1.3.4. Diversity of tribunals	1-11
1.4. Role of tribunal members – key competencies	1-12
1.4.1. Core skills and abilities: the ARC model	1-12
1.4.2. Key competencies for tribunal adjudication: the JSB framework	1-12
1.5. Appeals and judicial review	1-14
1.5.1. Types of appeals	1-14
1.5.2. The nature and origins of judicial review	1-14
1.5.3. Judicial review and tribunals	1-15
References	1-16

CHAPTER TWO: THE LEGAL FRAMEWORK

2.1. Sources of law	2-1
2.2. Legislation and delegated legislation	2-2
2.2.1. Statutes	2-2
2.2.2. Subordinate or delegated legislation	2-4
2.3. Statutory interpretation	2-7
2.3.1. The role of tribunals in interpreting statutes	2-7
2.3.2. General approaches to interpretation	2-7
2.3.3. Use of extrinsic materials	2-8
2.3.4. The role of legal presumptions	2-9
2.3.5. A method for interpreting a statute	2-11
2.4. Case law and res judicata	2-11
2.4.1. Rules of precedent	2-11
2.4.2. Assessing the value of a non-binding precedent	2-12
2.4.3. The principle of res judicata	2-13
2.5. Doctrine of functus officio	2-16
References	2-18

CHAPTER THREE: PROCEDURAL FAIRNESS

3.1. Procedural fairness	3-1
3.1.1. What is procedural fairness?	3-1
3.1.2. What are the justifications for the rules?	3-1
3.1.3. What is the source of the duty?	3-2
3.1.4. What are the consequences of breach?	3-3
3.1.5. How does procedural fairness relate to conduct standards?	3-3
3.2. The hearing rule	3-4
3.2.1. Implication: when does the rule apply?	3-4
3.2.2. Exclusion: when is the rule excluded or modified by statute?	3-4
3.2.3. Content: what procedures does the rule require?	3-6
3.3. The bias rule	3-7
3.3.1. Bias – actual and apprehended	3-7
3.3.2. Disqualifying circumstances	3-8
3.3.3. Operation of the bias rule	3-9
3.3.4. Conflict of interest	3-9
3.3.5. Bias by conduct or prejudgment	3-11
3.3.6. Bias by association	3-13
3.3.7. Bias by extraneous communication	3-15
3.3.8. Management of bias issues	3-15

3.4. Procedural fairness in administrative review and civil proceedings	3-19
3.4.1. Procedural fairness and obtaining information	3-19
3.4.2. Tribunal relying on its own knowledge	3-19
References	3-21

CHAPTER FOUR: PRE-HEARING

4.1. Preliminary procedures	4-1
4.1.1. Applications	4-1
4.1.2. Directions hearings	4-3
4.1.3. Conferences	4-4
4.2. Alternative dispute resolution processes	4-5
4.2.1. Definitions of ADR processes	4-5
4.2.2. Tribunal practice	4-7
4.3. Issues in alternative dispute resolution	4-7
4.3.1. Standards for ADR practice and accreditation	4-7
4.3.2. Referral to ADR	4-11
4.3.3. Self-represented parties and ADR	4-13
4.3.4. Confidentiality and admissibility of evidence	4-13
4.3.5. Communication with a member constituting the tribunal	4-14
4.3.6. Liability of ADR practitioners	4-14
References	4-15

CHAPTER FIVE: HEARINGS

5.1. Tribunal proceedings	5-1
5.1.1. A duty to inquire	5-2
5.1.2. A duty to disclose information	5-3
5.2. Preparation and organisation	5-3
5.3. Tribunal member conduct at the hearing	5-4
5.3.1. Punctuality	5-4
5.3.2. Attire of tribunal members	5-5
5.3.3. Demeanour of tribunal members	5-5
5.4. Procedures and processes at hearings	5-6
5.4.1. Security procedures	5-6
5.4.2. Interpreters	5-7
5.4.3. Legal representation	5-7
5.4.4. Preliminary matters	5-8
5.4.5. Disqualification for bias	5-10
5.4.6. Non-appearance of parties	5-11

5.4.7. Adjournment of proceedings	5-12
5.4.8. Stays of proceedings	5-13
5.4.9. Self-represented parties	5-14
5.4.10. Managing the hearing	5-14
5.4.11. Managing disruptions during a hearing	5-16
5.5. Evidence at hearings	5-17
5.5.1. Examination-in-chief	5-17
5.5.2. Cross-examination	5-18
5.5.3. Re-examination	5-19
5.5.4. Administration of oath and affirmation	5-19
5.5.5. Questioning by tribunal members	5-20
5.5.6. Telephone evidence	5-20
5.5.7. Videoconferencing	5-21
5.5.8. Documentary evidence	5-21
5.5.9. Closing submissions	5-22
5.6. Evidentiary issues	5-22
5.6.1 Inapplicability of the rules of evidence and procedure	5-22
5.6.2. Expert evidence	5-24
5.6.3. Privilege against self-incrimination	5-25
5.6.4. Legal professional privilege	5-26
5.6.5. Receipt of additional material after the hearing	5-27
References	5-28

CHAPTER SIX: DECISION-MAKING

6.1. Decision-making processes	6-1
6.1.1. Determination of preliminary questions	6-1
6.1.2. Decisions by majority	6-2
6.1.3. Timing issues	6-2
6.1.4. Formal requirements of a decision	6-3
6.1.5. Delays in handing down decisions	6-4
6.1.6. Burden and standard of proof	6-5
6.1.7. Using tribunal knowledge	6-6
6.1.8. Structuring decision-making	6-7
6.1.9. Making findings of fact	6-8
6.1.10. Assessing credibility	6-8
6.1.11. Evaluating expert information	6-10
6.1.12. Weighing evidence	6-11
6.2. Reasons	6-12
6.2.1. Need for reasons	6-12
6.2.2. Adequacy of reasons	6-13
6.2.3. Content of reasons	6-15
6.2.4. Oral reasons	6-16
6.2.5. Written reasons	6-17

6.2.6. Reserved decisions	6-19
6.2.7. Inadequate reasons	6-19
6.3. Costs	6-20
6.4. Orders	6-21
6.5. Finality	6-21
References	6-22

CHAPTER SEVEN: COMMUNICATION

7.1. Introduction	7-1
7.1.1. General simplification	7-1
7.1.2. Tribunals leading the way	7-1
7.2. Communication and plain language	7-2
7.2.1. Communication and fairness	7-3
7.2.2. Dealing with difference	7-3
7.2.3. Other sources of assistance	7-5
7.3. Dealing with the media	7-6
7.3.1. General aspects	7-6
7.3.2. Media liaison officers	7-7
7.3.3. Media arrangements and protocols	7-7
7.3.4. Judicial Conference of Australia media booklet	7-8
7.4. Conclusion	7-10
References	7-10

CHAPTER EIGHT: CASEFLOW MANAGEMENT

8.1. Introduction	8-1
8.2. Emergence of modern caseflow management	8-1
8.3. Principles of caseflow management	8-2
8.4. Impact of programs	8-3
8.5. Elements of successful programs	8-4
8.5.1. Key features	8-4
8.5.2. Features in practice	8-4
8.6. Monitoring of developments	8-6
8.6.1. Role of the Australian Institute of Judicial Administration (AIJA)	8-6
8.6.2. Australian Law Reform Commission (ALRC) report	8-7
8.7. Second generation caseflow management issues	8-8
8.8. Current issues	8-9

8.9. Caseflow management ‘on the ground’	8-11
8.10. Conclusion	8-12
References	8-12

CHAPTER NINE: CONDUCT OF TRIBUNAL MEMBERS

9.1. Introduction	9-1
9.1.1. Importance of good behaviour	9-1
9.1.2. On-bench and off-bench activity	9-2
9.1.3. Misbehaviour	9-2
9.2. Conduct guides	9-3
9.2.1. Australian Guides	9-4
9.2.2. Guide for tribunals	9-5
9.2.3. The Guide to Judicial Conduct	9-8
9.3. Conduct and professional development	9-11
9.4. Removal and complaint procedures	9-11
9.5. Conclusion	9-13
References	9-14

REFERENCES

General references on Administrative Law	R-1
1. Textbooks and casebooks	R-1
2. Loose-leaf services and commentaries	R-1
Government papers and reports	R-1
Guides	R-2
Books of essays and conference proceedings	R-3
Journal articles	R-4
Glossary	R-6

INDEX	I-1
--------------	------------